

IF YOU'RE LEAVING DON'T SHUT THE DOOR

If you're leaving your current employer, you can keep your Union membership.

Whether you're going to work for another company or even become self-employed, the CWU can go on working for you. Even if you will be unemployed and intend to seek future employment within the telecommunications, postal, call centre, IT or financial services sectors, you can remain a member of the CWU.

The benefits of continued membership include:

- Free legal advice on any non-work issue
- Full legal representation, where appropriate, should you or a dependent have an accident on or off duty (24/7)
- Access to support, assistance and advice on both employment as well as non-employment issues
- Union representation at disciplinary and grievance interviews
- You will receive a copy of the Union magazine, the Voice, allowing you to keep up to date on Union news
- You will also be able to attend your local Branch meetings, have the right to vote, and have your say in Union affairs

As a portable member, CWU portability membership is currently £8.33 per month including political levy and £7.46 excluding political levy

(rates correct as of January 2019 and payable by Direct Debit or Continuous Credit Card deductions)

To continue your membership as a portable member, please complete the form overleaf

There are many more reasons why you should join the CWU.

So why not join today? You will not regret it!

The CWU undertakes a range of political work on issues that affect our members.

We've successfully campaigned on issues from pay, pensions and workplace rights, to broader issues like the NHS and housing. In order to continue this work we ask members to make a contribution of 20p per week towards our political fund. Please tick this box to opt-in to this.

Any member choosing not to do so will not, by reason of not contributing, be disadvantaged compared with other members of the Union (except in relation to control of the political fund).

I wish to join the CWU as a portable member and accept its rules.

I authorise the Communication Workers Union to process the direct debit as detailed above.

My home address will be my ballot address and I understand it is my responsibility to inform the Union if this changes.
